CABLISH'S SPRING POETRY.

When looking for something good to eat,
Call at Cablish's for a treat.
There you'll find groceries, fruits and vegetables rare,
Which will make a most appetizing bill of fare.

Two things especially we'd like you to try.
And then you will readily know the reason why—
Kaff-A-Van Coffee, the best in the land;
For Huster Brown bread there's the biggest demand.

A LONG WAIT.

Mary had a little lamb
That followed her each day,
And Mary did not like for it
To follow her that way.

She tied it to the street car track,
And said without a tear,
"You'll follow me no more. The car Will soon end your career."

The lamb lay there for several days,
And panted hard for breath.
Before a single car came by
The poor thing starved to death.

MIKE BROWN
THE SQUARE DEAL MAN.

MRS. J. H. SAMUEL.

The entire community is pained to learn of the death of Mrs. Julia Samuel, wife of Dr.
J. H. Samuel, who passed away yesterday afternoon at the family residence in West Third street, after a protracted illness with neurasthenia.

Several weeks since Mrs. Samuel was stricken with a very critical illness, and her life was despaired of, but with careful and devoted attention she rallied and after a few weeks spent at a private nursing retreat at Lexington, she returned home, seemingly comparatively well.

The sudden death of her brother, Mr. John C. Lovel, a short time since, was a great shock to her and it was not long until she again became ill, and, in her weakened state, was unable to withstand the attack.

The deceased was the eldest daughter of Hon. R. B. Lovel and was born in Lewis county November 12th, 1860. She was married to Dr. J. H. Samuel January 13th, 1885, and of the union one son was born; R. L. Samuel.

She was a member of the First M. E. Church, South, and to her Church, as to her family and friends, she was most loyal, helpful and devoted.

To her bereaved husband and son, the sincere sympathy of a legion of friends is extended.

Mrs. Samuel is survived also by one sister, Mrs. J. S. Sims of Frankfort, and one brother,
Mr. Lee Lovel.

The time for the funeral has not yet been determined, but the remains will be taken to Flemingsburg and laid to rest in the family lot in the Cemetery at that place.

HAROLD S. REED.

Harold S. Reed, aged 19, formerly of this city, died Saturday at Dayton, O., while undergoing an amputation of his right leg. He was a nephew of Mr. John Gillespie of the East End. The funeral will take place tomorrow at Dayton.

NO CONFIRMATION

Of Story That Night Riders Were Killed in Madison

LEXINGTON, KY., May 9th.—Tons of soldiers of the Danville Company, after remaining here all night, left today.

It leaked out that they go from here to Cynthiana and from there will double back to meet a detachment from Winchester and will then probably go to Bracken or Madison county.

No confirmation can be secured from Madison county of two night riders being killed, as stated in a story sent last night from Frankfort.

Sixty Kentucky State Troops under Colonel
E. W. Lillard arrived at Augusta this morning.

PADUCAH, KY., May 9th.—Sanders Hall, a night rider, came here today with County Attorney Walter Krone of Lyon county and made a sworn confession, implicating twenty-five men of that county. Hall said he was afraid to confess at Eldysville and will remain in Paducah.

TOMATO INDUSTRY

In Brown County, Ohio, Develops
Into Immense Proportions

Georgetown (O.) News-Democrat.

There will be raised in Brown county this year about 1,250 acres of tomatoes.

This may seem preposterous to persons not acquainted with the situation. Factories will be operated at Georgetown, Hamersville, Russellville and Sardinia.

Aside from this many acres will be grown in this county for the Williamsburg factory and also for a large Cincinnati catnip concern.

A good specimen of tomato can always be raised in Brown county, when all other sections fail, and there was considerable disappointment last week when it was found that many plant beds had been destroyed and partly destroyed by the cold weather. However, favorable weather will overcome this setback.

MASON CASE

Local Damage Suit Comes Up in the Court of Appeals

Physical facts proved in a case must take precedence of the testimony of an expert witness is the decision of the Court of Appeals in the case of Edward Starrett of Maysville against the C. and O. Railroad.

Starrett was injured by being struck by an engine while sitting on the defendant Company's track a short distance below the city and sued
the Company for damages.

He was refused by the Mason Circuit Court on the grounds that the opinion of expert witnesses in the case when opposed to physical facts must give up to the facts. The Appellate Court reversed the decision, saying that such instructions are erroneous.

J. HENRY PECOR

JOHN HAYES HAMMOND, with his million dollars a year salary, is one man who has not suffered by the slump in prosperity.

It looks like war times sure enough on the frontier between Kentucky and Ohio. State troops line both banks of the Beautiful River and bloodshed may result at any hour. This strange transition from the gentle ways of peace and prosperity to one of frowning war is one of the anomalies of American life. Somebody has got to suffer and pay for this unheard-of and uncalled-for condition. Who will it be? Why, the farmer, of course.

INTERESTING facts regarding the debts of big cities and their consequences have come to light as a result of the formal investigation into the matter of getting more money for needed improvements which is now being conducted by the Mayors of Chicago and other Illinois municipalities. The investigation shows that Chicago has the least indebtedness of any city approaching it in size. Boston is one of the most heavily bonded communities; that city has a net debt of $57,000,000, or $94 a head. Philadelphia's debt is $40 per capita and Cleveland's only $34. To New York is reserved the doubtful honor of heading the list in the matter of liabilities. Its enormous debt of $600,000,000 represents a liability of nearly $150 per capita. In comparison with this, Chicago's debt of $68,000,000, or $33 per head, seems a mere bagatelle.

CRUEL QUESTION THAT!

Up in Boston the other day a young lawyer, who spends most of his time trying to seem busy and prosperous, went out for a while, leaving on his door a card neatly marked: Will be back in an hour.

On his return he found that some envious rival had inscribed underneath:

"What for?"

MUNICIPAL 'PHONES.

British Cities Abandon Experiment After a Short Trial.

Every City That Tried to Run Its Own "Hello" System Got Poor Service and Lost Money.

By WALTER F. BURGESS.

The act of parliament of 1899 permitting municipalities to borrow money for the purpose of establishing municipal telephone systems was taken advantage of by the corporations of Glasgow, Tunbridge Wells, Hull, Portsmouth, Brighton and Swansea. The record of each has been one of financial failure. At the outset it was stated by practical telephone engineers that the plans and estimates on which the systems were to be built were fallacious and would inevitably lead to disaster.

The municipality of Glasgow, which trades in everything from street cars down to lodging houses for hoboes, was the first to take advantage of the act. Their license was granted in March, 1900, and was valid for a period of thirteen years. Instead of adopting a modern common battery system they decided to install a modification of the old law system, which had already been discarded by telephone companies. Almost immediately following the opening the predicted faults became apparent, and changes in the plant became necessary. So many methods of working the telephone were introduced that the department rapidly became a byword and a reproach, and in July last the plant was sold after being in operation barely five years at a loss to the taxpayers of $200,000.

Obsolete engineering methods were not confined to Glasgow. At Portsmouth and Swansea the clearing signals were operated by push buttons located at the subscribers' stations, while at Brighton and Hull the clearing signals were given by a momentary earth contact made by the rising and falling of the switch hook. The service given by these municipalities was so poor that the increase of subscribers, which was at first rapid owing to the cheap rates and the glowing promises of an efficient service, almost ceased. Official statistics show that the National Telephone company for the year 1905 added 10,503 stations in the competitive areas as against 2,149 stations added by the municipalities themselves. Although Glasgow was the largest of the municipal systems and conspicuously the worst from a technical point of view, its financial losses were not proportionately greater than either of the other municipalities, which were all small and struggling concerns. For instance, the balance sheet of the Brighton municipality shows that the constructional estimates were exceeded by 40 per cent, and the whole concern was sold last August at a loss to the taxpayers of $18,500.

Further investigations of the financial statement of the municipalities show that it was their practice to discriminate in the taxation of their own undertakings and those which were operated under private control. A fair example of this discriminating policy may be found in the statement for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1906, of the Brighton municipality. The capital expenditure up to this date on the telephone system amounted to $217,550. At the rate for that year the undertaking should have been charged with about $3,707 for taxes, whereas the balance sheet shows that only $296 was actually paid.

The Swansea corporation is the last to discover that the operation of municipal telephony in practice and theory is entirely different, and they have just decided to cut their losses and sell out. As they were the last of the six municipalities to enter into the telephone business, their selling out may be referred to as the "swan song" of municipal telephony in Great Britain.

Immediately they announced their intention the local press was inundated with letters of protest. The mayor was requested to convene a town meeting to discuss the proposed sale. At this meeting a number of speeches were made and a deal of enthusiasm displayed. It was resolved that the subscribers to the municipal system should be invited by circular to agree to pay an increase on their rate, amounting to $5 per annum for three years, and thus avoid the sale.

Considering the loud trumpeting of the "profitable" results that had been claimed at the existing rates, this proposal seems to be more than passing strange. The result of this highly original poll is extremely amusing. The official statistics of the telephone system show that there were 1,487 subscribers, so, judging from the enthusiasm displayed at the meeting, one might have anticipated that the municipality could count upon an increase of revenue amounting to at least $7,000 per annum from the proposed canvass. In the circular sent out it was stated that no reply would be construed as a refusal to pay. Now for the result:

Total number of subscribers circular sent.....	1,487
Agreed to increase rate.....	247
Refused to pay.....	1,240
Agreed conditionally.....	67
Did not reply.....	437

It will be noticed that out of 1,487 subscribers after four years of active development there were only 900 who could be circularized on a question of payment, and out of this number 75 per cent would not pay a beggarly $5 per annum even for sentimental consideration. Surely no outside criticism can so pointedly indicate the utter feebleness of municipal telephony in Great Britain.

HOW A COLD IN THE HEAD AND NASAL CATARRH CAN BE CURED

Paracamp is Daily Demonstrating Its Marvelous Curative Properties.

At this time of the year, Cold In The Head and Nasal Catarrh are most prevalent. Many users of Paracamp are not aware that it will relieve and cure these ailments.

Don't dose your stomach with powerful drugs which always leave a bad after-effect and in a great many instances do serious harm, but try Paracamp. You will be agreeably surprised at the results. Take a small quantity on the end of the finger, put it well into the nostril and sniff hard, so as to get the remedy up into the channels of the nose and until it runs back into the throat. Do this until the channels of the nose are opened; then rub the outside of the nose and forehead thoroughly applying Paracamp freely, as this will stimulate the circulation, remove congestion, open the pores and draw out the fever and inflammation by inducing sweating.

When Paracamp is used in this manner, it goes immediately to the diseased and inflamed membranes, cooling, soothing and healing the same. It also kills the disease germs.

The principle of Paracamp is direct contact. It opens the pores of the skin, one of the mediums through which the body throws off its impurities, permitting the soothing, healing oils to penetrate direct to the interior cells, and removing all soreness, fever and inflammation by inducing perspiration.

This treatment should be repeated several times and always upon arising in the morning and at night before retiring. After a thorough trial, if you are not perfectly satisfied with the results, go to your druggist and he will give you your money back.

Paracamp has relieved many sufferers, and will cure without harming. It does not act as many other remedies do, deaden the nerves; but stimulates them so they may perform their natural functions.

Paracamp is sold and recommended by J. Jas. Wood & Son, Druggists.

NOMINATION ASSURED

To Taft By Kentucky's Action, Says Chairman of Convention

Special dispatch to The Enquirer from Louisville, Ky., May 9th, says—"When Kentucky went for Taft last Thursday," says W. D. Cochran of Mayville, "for the first time his nomination at Chicago was assured."

Cochran, who was Temporary Chairman of the Convention, is at a local hotel here, celebrating by a vacation the victory of the Secretary of War in Kentucky. He says that the eyes of the Union were on Kentucky during the Convention, and when the East saw that Kentucky had given 22 of her 36 delegates for Taft, with a chance of adding the two contested ones from the First District, Taft's election became a certainty. This was the pivotal State, according to Cochran. Another reason why the big Chairman smiles is because, as he says, the Ninth District and his own Mason County Republicans were the pioneer Taft men in Kentucky.

NO WEDDING BELLS

At Knoxville, Tenn., when Rev. William J. Evans, until recently of Indianapolis, Ind., who procured a license to wed Miss Leona Drucilla Howell, called at the bride's home there, in company with Rev. Dr. Brannan, a former classmate, whom he had selected to tie the knot, her mother and sister, Mrs. J. R. Coker, informed him that Miss Howell was not at home and that she had told them to inform him that she had changed her mind and did not intend to marry.

A scene followed. Rev. Dr. Evans, enraged and humiliated by the unexpected jilting, promptly demanded his letters and presents, and when they were refused he declared he would not hudge until they were produced, whereupon Mrs. Howell found them and also returned photographs. No further explanation was accorded the disappointed young Minister, who had been with Miss Howell the previous day when she was completing purchases for her trousseau.

Rev. Dr. Evans left for New Washington, Ind., where he has charge of the Christian Church, and whither he had expected to take his bride.

The Republican Convention and The Party's Future

Louisville Post.

For the first time the Republican party in Kentucky is one with the militant and progressive Republican party of the Nation.

It has freed itself from bigotry, vanity and intolerance. It has listened to, but it has refused to follow, the counsels of the malcontent and the reactionary.

Through the District conflicts, the Republicans of the State have made clear their purpose to stand with the President in his great work, and to see that next March it is confided to the hands of his great Secretary.

So complete is the triumph of the Taft men in this State that it rehabilitates the party and gives to the party a new claim to the confidence of the people. In a vain attempt to turn the people's vote into other paths and restore party control to men who believe in keeping it as small as possible, vast noise has been made, but in the results there is nothing to justify the noisy effort.

The Republicans have placed their feet on the upward path. They have put behind them the men that have so frequently discredited them. They can give reason today for the faith that is in them, and will not falter at any forward steps.

There is no room for bitterness, and no necessity for anger. The clamors of the partisan have not shaken the purposes of the party, and the devices of the factional leaders will soon be forgotten.

But the lessons of the campaign we cannot afford to forget. Party organization cannot be prostituted to personal ambitions, unholy alliances cannot be too soon dissolved and repudiated. The party of the future must be the party of the people, and it may not be a one man party. The work done by the President at Washington strengthens Republicanism in Kentucky, and so does the work done by Mayor Grinstead, in upholding the law, in abolishing privileges and in maintaining order.

In a vain effort to turn the party back from the path it has chosen, the reactionaries have surrendered control. It is right. Blind leaders of the blind leave the party in the ditch.

This is no time for a new doctrine of intolerance. The door of every leading party swings easily in and out, making entrance easy and exit, at times, imperative. The Republicans will need votes, but they are not to be obtained by chicanery or weakness or double-dealing, or paltering in a double sense. "Go or stay," it will say alike to new recruits and old line party men, "but know clearly what our purposes are and follow loyally the leaders we have chosen."

If there are men who have vainly imagined themselves greater than the party itself, and its self-constituted master, the campaign has for them been a campaign of education.

If they are wise, they will today join in the effort to make the decision of Kentucky unanimous, and unite with those who seek under a more thorough organization, and a more inspiring leadership, to have the State in November endorse the action of this Convention in May.

The House agreed to the conference report on the Army Appropriation Bill, which now goes to the President. Of the $7,000,000 provided for increased pay enlisted men will receive approximately $5,000,000.

TAFT HAS ENOUGH

Delegates to Nominate

Him on the First Ballot

The New York Herald's table of probabilities has been subjected to closer figuring than any of those that have been published before, and in a perfectly cold-blooded and unbiased way it gives Taft a total of 513 probable votes on the first ballot. Of these he has 438 in States where State Conventions have already been held and 75 in States where Conventions are to be held next week.

Of the 124 delegates elected last week 72 were instructed for Taft and two for Foraker, the others being uninstructed.

All but 130 of the 980 delegates to the Republican National Convention have been elected. Only one week of the contest remains. With next Saturday the last Convention for delegates must be held under the call of the National Committee and all contests must be filed by May 28th.

Taft is far in the lead; indeed, so far that it would seem impossible to defeat him at Chicago. His nomination would be freely conceded but for the fact that the movement to "stampede" President Roosevelt continues strong and The Herald has been informed of an organized subterranean campaign all over the country, directed from Washington and not by Senator Bourne.

or the League of Republican Clubs, either, to prevent instructions for Taft wherever possible, so that the uninstructed delegates could be held for Roosevelt or a "dark horse."

With California, Georgia, Louisiana, Michigan, Montana, North Dakota, Oregon, Texas and Washington, as well as a score or more of scattering districts, nearly all of which will instruct for Secretary Taft, yet to hear from, the Ohio man is already as good as nominated. If none of the Conventions scheduled for this week, which entail the election of an additional 125 delegates, should be held, yet Secretary Taft would have enough strength to nominate him on the first ballot at Chicago.

BOOTLEGGER

Gets a Stiff Dose at Vanceburg—$100 Fine and Ten Days in Jail

As a result of efforts of the local Law and Order League at Vanceburg, John Worthington, who has been acting as an agent for a Manchester, O., saloon, is in the toils.

The League secured the services of Louisville detectives, who, after gaining the confidence of Worthington, proceeded to purchase liquor from him.

The cases were tried in Judge Lee's Court Saturday morning, the first case resulting in a verdict of a $100 fine and a Jail sentence of ten days.

The remaining cases were held in abeyance pending an agreement as to a verdict in the entire case.

The detectives who did the work spent Saturday night in Mayville, guests of Sheriff Macley.

BOGGS.

Harry McNutt went to Cincinnati last week to get employment.

Bruce Howard, who went to Cincinnati to get work, has returned home.

The first Sunday in June will be observed as Children's Day by Ebenezer Presbyterian Church.

Miss Stella May Nash of Maysville is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John McCarran.

Lem Wilson and bride left Tuesday for Oklahoma City, Okla., where they expect to make their future home.

The following officers have been elected for Ebenezer Sunday-school: R. Edwin Boggs, Superintendent; J. C. Boyd, Assistant Superintendent; Ethel McNutt, Secretary; Alma Hunt, Assistant Secretary; Omar Boggs, Treasurer and Organist; Robert King, Librarian.

The recent vast amount of rainfall has been unprecedented in this section, say our oldest inhabitants. The farmers are greatly delayed with work of all kinds.

Prof. R. E. Boggs will leave the last of this week for Cincinnati and other points in Western Ohio. His little daughter, Miss Ivy, will accompany him as far as the Queen City, where she will visit relatives several days.

Painters have greatly beautified the already elegant residence of G. W. Barkley. Barkley and others are putting up woven wire fences, and the spirit of improvement goes steadily on.

One day last week our outgoing mail was laid over at Cottageville 24 hours on account of high water. Monday's mail laid over at that place 18 hours, and no mail was dispatched or received at this office Tuesday. We certainly need a change, or some bridge; yet work on the bridge at Cottageville has again been suspended. Uncle Sam will be notified of conditions here and permission asked that the Boggs Carrier transfer his mail bag to the McKenzie and Springdale Carrier without going through the Cottageville office in case of high water.

The river has about gone its limit—41.3 feet—and will be creeping back by tomorrow.

Yesterday was a bright, pretty day, the first for a long time. May we have more of the same kind right along, for the farmer especially needs sunshine.

The new Theatatorium did a big business Saturday night, every one of the hundred and fifty chairs being taken at the various exhibitions. The pictures were good, the singing excellent and the music up-to-date.

The game of ball yesterday afternoon between Aberdeen and Manchester resulted in a victory for Aberdeen by a score of 10 to 4. A large crowd witnessed the contest, several hundred from this side being present.

J. W. Hitchen and E. K. Long, two well-known Louisville detectives, spent Saturday night and Sunday in this city. What their business was, or whether it was of a local nature, could not be ascertained. They were guests of Sheriff James Mackey while here.

Prof. E. Rogenstein, formerly of this city, will deliver the address at the Commencement of the High School at Carthage, Ohio.

Elmo Harvard, an 18 year-old Negro, was lynched by an unmasked mob Friday at Pulaski, Tenn., for attempting to criminally assault Claude Allen, a sixteen-year-old white girl.

ANOTHER DELAY

In Letting Capitol Contracts Caused By Willson's Absence

FRANKFORT, Ky., May 9th.—The Building Committee of the Capitol Commission at a meeting today decided to wait until Governor Willson returned from the East to determine matters of employing an architect to complete the Capitol. It is understood that the commission will wait until Architect Frank M. Andrews completes his present contract before another is employed. The furnishing of the building will be done without assistance of an Architect.

The ferryboat owners along the Ohio and Kanawha rivers will hold a convention in Parkersburg on May 21st.

The Coney Island steamer Island Queen is now in the upper Ohio. She has excursions from Portsmouth, Ironton, Catlettsburg, Huntington and Gallipolis.

The Mississippi River Commission, on its recent trip from St. Louis to New Orleans, reported finding the levees in better general condition than they had been for years.

At Wheeling, the contract for 700 feet of navigation pass at Dam No. 8 at Wellsville was awarded to the A. T. Gillespie Company of Pittsburgh at its bid of $308,619. The unsuccessful bidders were the Sheridan Kirk Contracting Company of Cincinnati at $310,630 and the Dravo Contracting Company of Pittsburgh at $318,975.

Wearing "shoes" more than four feet long, eight-inch beam and twelve-inch draught, Captain S. F. Gilmore, a river pilot, tried to walk on the Monongahela river at Pittsburgh several times. Each time he tried "walking on the water," however, the shoes turned turtle, and with all but his feet submerged, he had to be hauled out by the crowd.

Captain John Crow of the towboat Sprague has been indicted at Paducah for interfering with a United States Deputy Marshal in the performance of his duty, and will be tried soon at Owensboro. It is alleged that Captain Crow interfered when United States Deputy Marshal Neal arrested a Negro aboard the Sprague while the boat was moving down the Ohio six weeks ago.

The recent high water in Tug and Big Sandy rivers destroyed and washed out farming lands, causing heavy damage. A petition has just been started asking Government aid in the building of dykes and rip-rapping the streams. The logs and dams are responsible for the heavy washings at high water. There is some talk of suing the United States Government for damages.

The hull of the old towboat Defender, which for more than a year lay near the wharfboat at Catlettsburg, is now practically a total loss. Last fall she was removed from the mouth of Sandy and not many persons knew what had become of her. All last winter the old hulk lay in the muddy water of the Ohio river just above Virginia Point and weathered the gale until some time during February, when she was left high and dry by a fall in the river. This caused her to break in two and when the next rise came she stayed on the bottom and now is almost a complete loss to her owners. The craft—as much as there was of it when it lay in the mouth of Sandy a year ago—was valued at about $6,000.

WORK THAT TELLS.
Plenty of It Has Been Done Right Here in Maysville.

Cures that last are cures that tell. To thoroughly know the virtues of a medicine you must investigate the cures and see if they prove permanent. Doan's Kidney Pills stand this test, and plenty of proof exists right here in Maysville. People who testified years ago to relief from backache, kidney and urinary disorders now declare that relief was permanent and the cure perfect. How can any Maysville sufferer longer doubt the evidence? M. C. Chisholm, 317 East Second street, Maysville, Ky., says:

"The cure which Doan's Kidney Pills effected in my case several years ago has remained permanent, and the testimonials I gave in their favor at that time still hold good. As previously stated, I was bothered a great deal by the too frequent action of the kidneys, this being especially annoying at night, when I would be obliged to arise several times. Having my attention called to Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at J. J. Wood & Son's Drugstore, and I had only taken them a short time when I noticed a marked improvement in my condition, and continuing with their use was cured. I have since learned of several instances in which Doan's Kidney Pills have been used with like results, and this has only served to strengthen my already high opinion of them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
